2020 United States Senate Races

Notes:

- This chart is compiled by Riley Newman, rileynew@gmail.com. A current version is always available at tinyurl.com/senatechart2020.
- “Political Experts” and their most recent projection dates used here are in order: Cook Political Report (10/29) Sabato Crystal Ball (10/29) and InsideElections (formerly Rothenberg Political Report) (10/28)
- A “race rating” is assigned to each state race, based on the above projections. The chart below orders races in order from “tossups” (rating 1) to solid D or R (rating 4). See endnote for details, and a table indicating relatively recently changed projections
- One column displays SuperPac funds as of 10-29-2020. The first figure is the amount spent in the state in support of the Democratic candidate plus that spent against the Republican candidate, while the second figure is the amount spent for the Republican plus that against the Democrat. These figures are based on data found at Center for Responsive Politics

Endorsements are drawn from the following list, representing the indicated issue focus. Click on organization name here to view its website. Click on a candidate’s endorser (eg “CLW” following CO candidate John Hickenlooper) to see what the endorser says about him/her.

- CLW (Council for a Livable World) – nuclear arms control and foreign policy
- Emily (Emily’s List) – pro-choice Democratic women
- J Street – pro-Israel, pro-peace
- LCV (League of Conservation Voters) – environmental issues, particularly climate change

A candidate’s name, if underlined, is a link to VoteSmart.org which provides ratings and endorsements for the candidate by numerous organizations, organized in categories. From there, other Vote Smart information about the candidate is easily accessed. See notes on Vote Smart following this chart.

GA -A Special election	1	Jan 5 2021 runoff	toss up toss up toss up	David Perdue R, I Jonathan Ossoff D	CLW LCV	20.4 28.7	36.0 for D or against R 56.8 for R or against D	Georgia A – The state has been moving towards a purple status; Stacey Abrams (D) lost her 2018 race for governor in a very close contest by only 50%-49%. On June 9, former House candidate Jon Ossoff (D) defeated two major foes for the Democratic nomination in a June 9 primary and avoided an August 11 runoff. Polls show a close general election against Sen. Davie Purdue (R).

GA-B Special election	1	Jan 5 2021 runoff	toss up toss up lean R	Kelly Loeffler R, I Raphael Warnock D	LCV CLW expected	24.8 17.3	19.8 for D or against R 0.5 for R or against D	Georgia B – Kelly Loeffler (R), a businesswoman and co-owner of the Atlanta Dream in the Women’s National Basketball Association, has been named Sen. Johnny Isakson’s (R) replacement by Georgia Gov. Brian Kemp. Loeffler will hold the seat until the November 2020 special election, creating two elections then. She is challenged by Rep. Doug Collins (R), Matt Lieberman (D), and Rev. Dr. Raphael Warnock (D) in an open primary. If no candidate wins 50% of the vote in November, there will be a runoff vote in January, which could mean Senate control is in doubt long after the November election.
IA	1		toss up toss up toss up	Joni Ernst R, I Theresa Greenfield D	Emily LCV Jstreet CLW	21.8 40.4	93.0 for D or against R 74.7 for R or against D	Iowa – Iowa Sen. Joni Ernst (R) is running for reelection. National Democrats, including the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee and Emily’s List, have rallied around real estate executive and former congressional candidate Theresa Greenfield (D), who won her June 2 primary handily. Greenfield is considered a narrow favorite.
ME	1		toss up leans D tilt D	Susan Collins R, I Sara Gideon D	CLW Emily LCV Jstreet	25.2 63.6	57.8 for D or against R 48.8 for R or against D	Maine – Sen. Susan Collins (R) has been a highly popular incumbent in the state, but alienated many moderate voters with some votes, particularly to confirm Judge Kavanaugh. In 2018, Democrats picked up the governorship from a retiring Republican and won both House seats in the state. In late June, state House Speaker Sara Gideon’s jumped into the race, and immediately was endorsed by the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee and EMILY’s List. Gideon easily won her primary, has produced strong fundraising numbers and is now in a toss up race or slightly favored.
MT	1		toss up leans R toss up	Steven Daines R, I Steve Bullock D	LCV	24.5 38.1	57.8 for D or against R 48.1 for R or against D	Montana: In March 2020, popular Gov. Steve Bullock (D) made a late entry into the contest. Incumbent Sen. Steve Daines (R) is strong, but this is likely to be a close contest. Call it a tossup. Bullock is used to overcoming a GOP victory in the presidential race when he was last elected governor.
NC	1		toss up toss up tilt D	Thom Tillis R, I Cal Cunningham D	CLW LCV Jstreet	20.9 43.4	114.3 for D or against R 99.6 for R or against D	North Carolina – Sen. Thom Tillis (R-NC), who alienated President Trump and now is his best friend, is running for re-election. Former Democratic state Sen. Cal Cunningham won the contested Democratic primary and is running ahead in polls and fundraising, but late reports of his affairs with women not his wife have damaged him.
SC	1		toss up leans R tilt R	Lindsey Graham R, I Jaime Harrison D	LCV Jstreet CLW	59.4 86.9	16.1 for D or against R 28.5 for R or against D	South Carolina – Sen. Lindsey Graham (R) has gone from Trump opponent in 2016 to Trump critic to Trump ally. Democrats have rallied around former South Carolina Democratic Party Chair Jaime Harrison, former top aide to Rep. Jim Clyburn (D). The Cook Report has upgraded Harrison’s chances after a terrific fundraising third quarter of 2020 – $57 million – and polls show a tossup.

AK	2		lean R leans R lean R	Dan Sullivan R, I Al Gross ind.	Jstreet LCV	9.3 13.9	14.1 for D or against R 0.1 for R or against D	Alaska: Orthopedic surgeon Al Gross, an independent who is seeking the Democratic nomination to face Sen. Dan Sullivan (R) and has unified the Democratic Party behind his campaign. In late April, Sabato's Crystal Ball upgraded the race from Sure Republican to Likely Republican. It may be a tossup.
AL	2		lean R likely R lean R	Doug Jones D, I Tommy Tuberville R	LCV	24.9 7.5	1.2 for D or against R 4.1 for R or against D	Alabama – The most vulnerable Democratic incumbent in 2020 is Sen. Doug Jones (D). In 2017, Jones won a stunning upset victory 50%-48% over former state Supreme Court Justice Roy Moore (R) in this usually solid Republican state. Sen. Jeff Sessions (R) comeback attempt was smacked down by Tommy Tuberville (R), who is favored over Sen. Doug Jones (D).
AZ	2		lean D lean D tilt D	Martha McSally R, I Mark Kelly D	LCV CLW Jstreet	50.9 82.8	39.4 for D or against R 42.6 for R or against D	Arizona – Martha McSally (R), after losing a close election in 2018 to Sen. Kyrsten Sinema (D) by 50%-48%, was appointed to take the seat of late Sen. John McCain (R), and has to run again in 2020. Mark Kelly (D), astronaut and husband of former Rep. Gabrielle Giffords, is her challenger. Kelly is leading in fundraising and the polls and is heavily favored.
CO	2		Lean D Likely D tilt D	Cory Gardner R, I John Hickenlooper D	CLW Jstreet	25.0 36.7	15.3 for D or against R 22.2 for R or against D	Colorado – Sen. Cory Gardner (R) is considered one of the most vulnerable Republicans in the 2020 election. In 2018, Democrats won the governorship in Colorado and picked up one House seat, and Hillary Clinton carried the state in 2016. In August, former Governor John Hickenlooper dropped his candidacy for President and announced he will run for this Senate seat. Hickenlooper was hurt by self-inflicted wounds, but survived the primary 59%-41%. This remains one of the best opportunities for a Democratic pickup; Hickenlooper is the favorite.
KS	2		lean R leans R lean R	Roger Marshall R Barbara Bollier D	Emily LCV CLW	5.5 20.7	20.4 for D or against R 29.8 for R or against D	Kansas – Incumbent Sen. Pat Roberts (R) will retire after this term, his fourth. The state has not elected a Democratic Senator since 1932, and although a Democrat captured the governorship in 2018, Republicans had been favored to hold the seat. Prospects for the Democratic candidate state senator Barbara Bollier, a former Republican, have picked up. Her opponent is U.S. Rep. Roger Marshall (R) after a very bitter Republican primary. This is a tossup.
MI	2		lean D leans D lean D	Gary Peters D, I John James R	CLW LCV	35.7 33.9	44.9 for D or against R 39.6 for R or against D	Michigan – Army veteran John James (R), who lost in 2018 to Sen. Debbie Stabenow, is challenging Democratic incumbent Gary Peters. James lost by a fairly close 52%-46% to Stabnow, and raised $12 million for his race. Peters is one of only two Democratic incumbents at all vulnerable, but he appears to have surged into a solid although not unbeatable lead.

TX	2		lean R likely R lean R	John Cornyn R, I M.J. Hegar D	Emily Jstreet	29.6 20.6	27.7 for D or against R 10.6 for R or against D	Texas – Republican Senate Majority Whip John Cornyn is the clear favorite to be re-elected. Air Force veteran MJ Hegar (D), who lost a close 51%-48% House race in TX-31 in 2018, won her runoff election with 52% of the vote against Royce West. She now faces the formidable opponent in Sen. John Cornyn (R). Cornyn is favored, but Hager is making a good run and Texas is changing.
KY	3		likely R likely R solid R	Mitch McConnell R, I Amy McGrath D	CLW Jstreet	53.4 84.2	15.4 for D or against R 13.3 for R or against D	Kentucky – Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R) surmounted a tough challenge in 2014, 56%-41%. But he is facing a difficult election because of his close connection to President Trump and his lukewarm ratings in the state. . Former fighter pilot and House candidate Amy McGrath (D) had key endorsements, a bucketful of money and the momentum, until a few weeks before the primary when Democratic opponent Charles Booker suddenly caught fire, with newspaper backing, his own key endorsements and national attention. McGrath survived, but barely 45%-43%. She was wounded by the primary, but has the resources and time to make it a close general election. However, McConnell is the clear favorite.
MN	3		solid D likely D solid D	Tina Smith D, I  Jason Lewis R	CLW Emily LCV Jstreet	14.1  18.1	0.6 for D or against R 0.7 for R or against D	Minnesota – Sen. Tina Smith (D), appointed to replace Sen. Al Franken, won in 2018 by 53%-42% over former state senator Karen Housley for the last two years of Franken’s term. Smith faces another election this year for a full six-year term. Jason Lewis, who served as U.S. representative for one term before being ousted by Rep. Angie Craig in 2018, is running against Sen. Smith.
NH	3		solid D likely D solid D	Jeanne Shaheen D, I  Corky Messner R	CLW Jstreet Emily LCV	18.1  6.8	0.3 for D or against R 1.0 for R or against D	New Hampshire: Sen. Jeanne Shaheen (D) is the overwhelming favorite over lawyer Corky Messner (R), who won a September primary.
NM	3		solid D likely D solid D	Ben Lujan D  Mark Ronchetti	CLW LCV Jstreet	8.1  3.2	0.5 for D or against R 0.4 for R or against D	New Mexico – Sen. Tom Udall (D) has announced his retirement at the end of this term. While Democrats have dominated elections in recent years, Republicans are still competitive. Rep. Ben Ray Lujan (D) is the Democratic candidate and the clear favorite.
AR	4		solid R safe R solid R	Thomas Cotton R, I Joshua Mahony D		11.8 Not yet reported		Arkansas – Sen. Tom Cotton ® will have no problems being reelected.
DE	4		solid D solid D solid D	Christopher Coons D, I	CLW	6.6		Delaware – Sen. Chris Coons (D) is in great shape.
ID	4		solid R safe R solid R	James Risch R, I		3.0		Idaho – Sen. James Risch ® will certainly be reelected.
IL	4		solid D safe D solid D	Richard Durbin D, I	Jstreet CLW	9.9		Illinois – Sen. Dick Durbin (D) has no significant opponent.

LA	4		solid R safe R solid R	William Cassidy R, I		10.6	0.0 for D or against R 1.2 for R or against D	Louisiana – In July, Shreveport Mayor Adrian Perkins launched a campaign against Republican Sen. Bill Cassidy, and was immediately endorsed by the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee.
MA	4		solid D safe D solid D	Ed Markey D, I	CLW LCV	14.0	7.6 for D or against R 0.7 for R or against D	Massachusetts – Sen. Edward Markey (D) easily turned back the primary challenge from Rep. Joseph Kennedy III (D) 55%-45% and will continue as Senator.
MS	4		Likely R safe R likely R	Cindy Hyde-Smith R, I Michael Espy D		2.9 5.5		Mississippi – Democrat Mike Espy, a former Congressman and Secretary of Agriculture, who held Republican Sen. Cindy Hyde-Smith to a 54%-46% win for the last two years of Sen. Thad Cochran's (R) seat, is running against her again. Hyde-Smith is the overwhelming favorite, although late polls show a tightening of the race.
NE	4		solid R safe R solid R	Benjamin Sasse R, I		6.3		Nebraska – Sen. Ben Sasse ® will be back in 2021.
NJ	4		solid D solid D solid D	Cory Booker D, I	LCV	15.3	1.0 for D or against R <0.10 for R or against D	New Jersey – Sen. Cory Booker (D) withdrew from the race for President and will return to the Senate next year.
OK	4		solid R safe R solid R	James Inhofe R, I Abby Broyles D		5.4 1.6		Oklahoma – Senate Armed Services Committee Chair James Inhofe ® will be back for another term.
OR	4		solid D safe D solid D	Jeffrey Merkley D, I	CLW Jstreet LCV	11.0		Oregon – Sen. Jeff Merkley (D) avoided any serious Republican opposition.
RI	4		solid D safe D solid D	John Reed D, I		3.8		Rhode Island – Senate Ranking Armed Services Committee Democrat John Reed will be an easy winner.
SD	4		solid R safe R solid R	Mike Rounds R, I		4.5		South Dakota – Sen. Mike Rounds ® will have no problem being reelected.
TN	4		solid R safe R solid R	Bill Hagerty R Marquita Bradshaw D		14.9 0.9	2.7 for D or against R 1.6 for R or against D	Tennessee – Tennessee Republican Sen. Lamar Alexander, who has served since 2003, announced his retirement at the end of this term. His replacement is likely to be a Republican; In 2018, Democrats thought they had a chance to win a Senate seat in this state, but ex-governor Phil Bredesen (D) won only 44% of the vote against then-Rep. Marsha Blackburn (R). Bill Hagerty (R), Ex-US Ambassador to Japan, Ex-State Cabinet Member & Businessman is heavily favored over Marquita Bradshaw (D), Staffing Consultant, Insurance Agent & Environmental Activist.
VA	4		solid D safe D solid D	Mark Warner D, I	LCV	16.3		Virginia – Sen. Mark Warner (D) had an unexpectedly close race in 2014, but should romp this year.

WV	4	June 9	solid R safe R solid R	Shelley Capito R, I Paula Swearengin D		5.2 1.4		West Virginia –Sen. Shelley Capito © will be back for a second term.
WY	4	Aug 18	solid R safe R solid R	Cynthia Lummis R		2.6	&lt;0.10 for D or against R 0.1 for R or against D	Wyoming – Sen. Michael Enzi (R-WY) announced his retirement at the end of this term. Former Rep. Cynthia Lummis is running and will win the seat. Rep. Liz Cheney (R), who would have been major opposition, declined run.

Race rating definition: (1) at least one “tossup”, (2) no tossup and no solid, (3) “solid” and “likely” mix, (4) all “solid” or “safe”

VoteSmart.org provides a treasure chest of information about many of the candidates in our chart. Vote Smart sends a “Political Courage Test” to candidates – a questionnaire asking for his/her position on a range of issues. Unfortunately, in recent years candidates are increasingly unwilling to respond to this test. So

Vote Smart's website now presents what it thinks a candidate's answers would have been, based on Vote Smart's analysis of the candidate's past statements and votes. The links in our chart take you directly to the Vote Smart page for each candidate. Far more information is readily accessed from this Vote Smart section, including the candidate's biography, voting record, copies of speeches and statements, and funding. In addition, Vote Smart provides a huge nicely organized table showing ratings and endorsements of the candidate by a wide range of organizations – an excellent way to explore evaluations of the candidate by organizations that address particular concerns the reader may have.
